12 must-see art exhibitions to check out this winter

Photography, sculpture, painting and more at galleries across Dubai

By Amy Mathieson September 27, 2022

In the mood for some culture? Dubai's not all waterparks and shopping – there are heaps of super art galleries around the city, and with winter upon us, it's time to check out some brand-new exhibitions that are opening up in Dubai.

From sculpture to paintings, photography and projection – loads of mediums are represented all across the city, and there's masses to explore.

Interest piqued? Here are the must-see winter art exhibitions in Dubai in 2022.

The Machine Zone, Mat Collishaw

The first exhibition at the new Tatintsian Gallery in Al Quoz launches with a solo show from Mat Collishaw – one of the founders of the Young British Artists movement. It's the first show in the UAE for Collishaw and will combine paintings, projections and moving sculptures from different years – including his signature piece, a large-scale zoetrope. The Machine Zone refers to our increasing dependence on the ever more mechanized, technology-driven world.

Free. Sep 27-Nov 3. Tatintsian Gallery, Alserkal Avenue, Al Quoz, tatintsian.com.
